Monica Fund Now Nears $7000 Mark

And still they come pouring in, with every mail. Even from far-away Alaska, come contributions from community-minded, humanitarian individuals and organizations. It surely renews one's faith in the essential "do-unto-others" spirit which shines like a brilliant star amid the selfishness and greed of the world, to witness the ready response to this great need.

The official total released as of Wednesday, September 29, by Fund Treasurer, Walter Chamberlain, is mounting well toward the $7000 mark.

To the People of Arlington:

October 3 to October 9, 1948, has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week throughout the nation, and on Monday, October 4, the Members of the Arlington Fire Department will begin their Annual House Inspection.

This is the twenty-fifth consecutive year that the firemen have voluntarily given their time for the inspection of cellars which was started in 1924 by former Chief Daniel B. Tierney.

House Inspection is a notable practice, one so important that every large city in the country has adopted this fire prevention method as a necessary phase of public safety, and Arlington is given nationwide credit for originating the idea of inspecting residential cellars for faulty equipment and fire hazards — a task which figures greatly in the safety of our lives and property.

During the period of these twenty-five years, the benefits to Arlington cannot be computed nor disputed. Arlington is strictly a residential community of approximately 45,000 population and with fine cooperation the Town has enjoyed an enviable low per capita fire loss. Throughout the country fires have exacted a toll of many, lives and countless millions of dollars in property loss — the greatest loss occurring in residential property.

This year the Arlington Fire Department confidently expects the same wholehearted support which it has received during the past twenty-four years of House Inspection. Our inspectors will note the conditions found in your cellar and will suggest the methods of eliminating those defects and hazards.

SUGGESTIONS FOR YEAR ROUND FIRE PREVENTION

Parents should early impress upon children the destructiveness of fire to both life and property.

FIRE DEPARTMENT
WARNINGS
Never use gasoline for cleaning purposes. "Gasoline is Dynamite." Never smoke while handling gasoline since gasoline is manufactured for the sole purpose of exploding.

Avoid careless smoking and do not smoke in bed.

Do not store old furniture or bedding in the cellar or attic.

The papers securely in bundles. Keep space under cellar stairs free from all inflammable materials which are a source of danger.

Keep heaters in good condition and have oil burners serviced regularly by competent workmen. Clean smoke pipes and chimneys before starting fires.

Put ashes in metal containers only and never on the floor or against wooden partitions.

Do not use heavier fuses than prescribed and do not overload electric circuits with lamps, motors or appliances. See that wiring is properly installed.

REMEMBER, good housekeeping begins in the cellar!

Acting Chief

Appeals To Unregistered Voters To Register Without Delay

While Messrs. Gott and Ring are thinking up answers to their absentee records of 29-25 and 49-87, absences from their official duties at roll call during the last two sessions of the Legislature, and also for their lack of progressive legislation for ARLINGTON, I would like to call to the attention of the voters of the 28th Middlesex District the problem of street car transportation as it affects the residents of Arlington.

As usual, just about now—shortly before election—our present Representatives will wipe the dust off the Rapid Transit plans and proposals to improve transportation for Arlington. The papers will be filled with pictures and with statements of what they are going to do in this respect for Arlington. The Trustees of the M. T. A. will be shown making a survey of conditions which has been done again and again—and they will be quoted as telling what able fellows are our two Representatives from the 28th Middlesex District. This featuring occurs biennially, election after election, with no resulting action—just window dressing for the two candidates.

Mr. Gott, as he has stated, has been sixteen years in the Legislature-time enough to do something. But it now takes longer to go from Arlington Heights to Harvard Sq. than it did sixteen years ago, and the trip is made in the old, dilapidated cars of the M. T. A. Incidentally, it is rumored that "M. T. A."

means "More Trouble Ahead." Mr. Ring has had four years in which to do something. We recall that two years ago, at a Transportation meeting in the Town Hall, he stated that "after the M. T. A. took over we would get better service and at a lower cost," and it now costs ten cents a ride within town limits. Just wait and see what the assessments will be to the taxpayers of Arlington for their share of the cost of the M. T. A. quote the Boston Post:—"The State Auditor said that if the road continues to lose money under its present rate, the total cost of the taxpayers will be $21,000,000. should the State Supreme Court rule that the MTA must pay the capital gains tax. This is in addition to the fares paid by the commuters. The deficit under the last year of private ownership was approximately $700,000. The MTA reports an operating deficit of $4,000,000. for the first six months not including the estimated $11,000,000. that the taxpayers have poured into the road's coffers since public ownership started last Oct. 28th."

Ask those who hang on straps, and who have to wait in Harvard Square for the delayed return from Watertown of an Arlington car, what they think of the new service. And did you ever ponder why our cars go through Harvard Sq. to Watertown before returning to Arlington? When there is a tie-

Several hundred young people of Arlington will be among the sixty thousand enthusiastic youths to participate in the mammoth CYO parade to be held in Boston on Sunday afternoon, October 3rd, in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the establishment of the Catholic youth organization in the Boston Diocese. Highlighting the parade will be more than one hundred floats, in addition to seventy-five separate musical units.

Plans are now complete for the gigantic CYO Parade, which will be held in Boston on October 3rd, to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Catholic Youth Organization in this Archdiocese. More than 60,000 members will participate in the parade which will take six hours to pass a given point. It will be the first parade of its kind to be strictly devoted to youth, and also the first parade to be televised in this area.

The event will also serve as an official welcome home from the Youth of the Archdiocese to His Excellency, Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, who will review the marchers from a stand on Beacon St. Over seventy colorful floats have been entered to date. Sixty-four CYO bands, drums and bugle corps units, and drill teams will be dispersed among the marchers to enliven the parade.

Rev. George M. Dowd, Director of the Catholic Youth Organization is the General Chairman of the parade, and is being assisted by the Rev. John E. Sullivan, Rev. John P. Carroll, and Joseph McKenney, former Boston College football star and coach, now director of Physical Education in the Boston Public Schools, who will be Parade Marshal.

The parade will start promptly at noon and will follow Beacon Park, Tremont, and Boylston Sts., disbanding at Copley Square. College men and women with traditional caps and gowns will be interspersed among hundreds of parish units featuring girls in white blue and gold or red dresses with ribbons of contrasting colors and boys nattily attired in street suits with armbands, sashes, and pennants. The seventy floats, representing the combined talents of as many parishes, will produce scenes of deep religious significance with Religious and Youth motifs prevailing. Behind regular parish banners will march the priests following direction of their own leaders.

Governor Robert F. Bradford and Mayor James M. Curley will be on hand to extend civic greetings to the paraders at specially erected stands along the route of march. Regarding the religious theme of this, the first Youth parade of its kind, Archbishop Cushing has said, "Any means that will assist to bring back the gospel and its moral code into the hearts of men, any method that will enable them to emphasize in all ranks of human kind the genuine notion of authority, of discipline, of respect and honor for the right and duties of the human person is entirely feasible. For these reasons, I have deemed it advisable, even necessary to have the Youth of our Diocese display their Catholic devotion and unity, to manifest their dedication to God and Country."

The nation will be able to view the parade in their local movies, theatres through the cooperation of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Fox Movietone News, Paramount Newsreel, and Warner Bros., all of whom are sending special movietone photographers to Boston to make newsreels of the parade.

A special blessing upon the marchers has been bestowed by His Excellency, John J. Wright, D. D., Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, in a letter addressed to "the faithful of the Flock of Christ." Bishop Wright says:

"I add my prayers to those of all who have been asking God to bless the Catholic Youth Parade. May this unique event be an inspiration to those who take part in it and a source of edification to all others.

"The Parade itself is only a means to an end infinitely more important than any demonstration of this kind could possibly be. The means is collective, but the purpose is personal. Group action of any kind finds its spiritual justification only as it contributes to individual perfection. Parades, mass meetings great demonstrations serve their true purpose only when they help individuals to be better persons, more loyal, more holy, more close to the Catholic ideal and to God's will. "So we all pray that the Youth Parade will be a great success. But even more, we pray that it will fulfill its proper purpose, a purpose more sublime than the success of any mere organized demonstration. We pray that it will give every boy and girl who participates a deeper appreciation of the things which it symbolizes: the unity in faith, worship and action which prevails among all good Catholics."

Dr. Lewis To Speak Here Sunday Noon

Dr. Leonard Lewis, president of Gordon College, will be guest speaker at the men's class of the First Baptist church in Arlington, on Sunday, October 3, at twelve noon Dr. Lewis will take as his subject "Getting God's Point of View. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Letter To The Editor

To Editor
Arlington Press.
Dear Sir:

"I have read with interest your suggestions regarding the Lodge Central meeting places. I wonder if it has occurred to you what it would mean for members to walk up two or three flights of stairs. Of course, elevators could be put in, but it is rather doubtful if that would be done. Besides, the fire hazards of a third floor would be great. With a large auditorium, a panic could ensue quickly and fatally, and many receive burns or serious injuries while trying to escape. If an auditorium of any kind is to be built, it should be constructed with an eye to quick getting out if necessary."

"In many of the surrounding towns you will find these three floor fire traps, which were constructed in the days when they had G. A. R. posts. Some of these are still in existence, but most of them have been done away with. Think it over well before you advocate the building of such structures."

Arlington Scouters Plan Elaborate Program

A very elaborate and interesting program of fall and winter activities being planned by Arlington District, Boy Scouts of America who have already gotten off to a head start. A large group of Scouts from all of the units met recently at the Robbins Library hall, to discuss "What's Doing in Scouting" for the coming season. Calendars were given out, setting forth the planning activities, and the chairman, Henry E. Keenan, appealed to all members to assist as much as possible in the coming Red Feather drive, in order to raise the necessary funds to carry on scouting in the town.

It is planned to hold another Scout Exposition this season, and chairman, Henry E. Keenan, appoint an exposition committee, to be named at the Arlington District meeting, to be held October 6th, at the Robbins Memorial Hall.

Arlington Business Woman Honored By Bank Association

One of Arlington's best known business women, Miss Gertrude M. Sundlie assistant to the manager of the Arlington street branch of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, was recently elected national recording secretary of the Association of Bank Women, at its annual convention held last week in Detroit.

The more than 800 membership of the Association is comprised of women who hold high executive positions in national, state and trust companies throughout the United States, it being the only organization of its kind in the country.

Miss Sundlie was an active member of the New England Division program committee for 1944-45: a member of the national publications committee for 1946-47; New England publicity chairman for 1947-48, as well as chairman of the Reservations committee for the three day Joint Middle Atlantic states and New England states spring conference held in Boston during April.

Why not Arlington? Recall that the people south of

Elect Officers For Coming Year

At the recent meeting of the Arlington Police Relief Association the members cast their ballots for annual election of officers of the local chapter, with the following results: John J. Hourihan, president; Charles W. Scannell, secretary; Philip Sweeney, Charles W. Scannell, and George Fitzgibbon, delegates to the annual convention to be held at Worcester this year. Alternate delegates elected were George Alexie, Harold O'Leary, and Walter Smith.

Boston this year voted to have nothing to do with this bungling, expensive method of transportation. We appeal to the unregistered voters of Arlington to register and to vote against this type of representation, and get things DONE for ARLINGTON.

Remember October 1st is the last day to register.

As I have previously stated, if the Representatives from the 28th Middlesex District do want to stay on the job all of the time, and promote beneficial Legislation for our town I do.

Schaber Appointed Permanent Patrolman

At the recent meeting of the Arlington Board of Selectmen, William P. Schaber was appointed as a permanent patrolman in the Arlington police department.

Mr. Schaber succeeds Thomas M. Donovan, who retired last week after serving as regular patrolman since February, 1914. Schaber had served as a military substitute.

At this meeting, the Board of selectmen also requested that a military substitute be named to replace Patrolman Adelbert Swink, veteran of World War II, who has been recalled to military duty. Swink was personal pilot to General Hodge during the last war.

Arlington Men Drawn On Jury

At the recent meeting of the Arlington board of selectmen, the following names were drawn for jury duty at the East Cambridge court session starting November 1st. Thomas M. Chase, 37 Churchill avenue, first criminal session; Lorne L. Lewis, 56 Newcomb St, first civil session, and William W. Curtin, 5 Putnam road, second civil session.

P.T.A. Holds First Meeting

The Arlington Council of Parent Teacher Associations held its first meeting this fall at the home of Mrs. Miller Laufman, corresponding secretary of the Council.

Mrs. Frank L. Lincoln, Chairman of the Board of Managers of the Fine Arts Program announced the programs and dates of the three concerts in fine arts that will be presented to the school children of Arlington for the 1948-1949 series.

A delightful social hour followed the meeting. Hostesses for the evening included Mrs. Charles Larden, Chairman of Hospitality, Mrs. Keith Milne, Mrs. Humphrey J. Sullivan, Mrs. Milton Bretscher, Mrs. Walter S. Coledge, Jr., Mrs. Elmer Scribner, Mrs. Maurice King, Mrs. Arthur Clare, Mrs. Frank L. Lincoln and Mr. Donald Johnston, president of the Cutter School P.

The council members were delighted to have Mrs. Thomas C. Moris, president of the Lexington Council of Parent-Teacher Associations as guest for this meeting.

The Council's Fine Art Project has created much interest in other communities. At the present time the towns of Belmont and Winthrop are in the process of formalizing fine arts programs of their own using Arlington as their pattern.

Billboard Is Wanted To Help Fund

The use of one of Arlington's large billboards has been contributed to assist in raising money for the Monica Trust Fund. It is located at Massachusetts Ave., directly atop the Forest Drug Store. Its use was arranged by A. Gordon Weir of Alfred Road. The billboard is owned and operated by Birch Co. of Boston.

Colorfully painted, the sign will remain there for some time, as a reminder to Arlington residents to do their share to help the little burned girl, Monica Cotter, recover the normal life to which she is entitled. It reads:

"Did YOU Donate To The MONICA Trust Fund Yet?"

"Help Rebuild a Life."

Services For Mrs. Laura E. Andres

Private funeral services for Mrs. Laura Edith (Beazell) Andres, 80, who passed away recently at her home, 114 Pleasant street, Arlington, were held on Wednesday afternoon September 22, from the Bigelow chapel, Mt Auburn cemetery, Cambridge. Cremation followed the services.

Mrs. Andres was one of Arlington's oldest residents, and was one of the national organizers of the Young Women's Christian Association. She was during her long life an active worker in the town's social and religious activities, and was the wife of Frederick H. Andres.

Backs Suggestion For Building For Clubs Here

Editor, Press: "Your recent editorial on a meeting hall for clubs and societies is a well-directed shot or opening gun on a subject that the citizens of Arlington should be apprized."

"Instead of a three-story structure, why not a two-story building with a dining room and kitchen in the basement; a hall of suitable proportions on first floor for use by clubs and fraternal organizations, and a number of smaller halls on second floor."

"One must remember that, in the membership of any organization, there are elderly people who would not attend meetings where they have to climb more than one flight of stairs."

"Let us say it should be a Community Building and, by the same token, should be sponsored by the community and not be a commercial enterprise."

"No doubt there are many organizations that meet in public or semi-public halls that are not adapted to their particular use, and some meet in antiquated fire traps."

"I am not acquainted with the civic bodies that meet in the town (maybe they have their own meeting-place problem) but surely one of them (or several of them jointly) could sponsor such a project."

"In my present club connections, I have found in two cases that a suitable meeting place for Arlington organizations is a need."

"Knowing your way around town, you should be able to find the right party to get the ball rolling."

Yours truly,
 (Signed) Hjalmar F. Bowlby

Red Cross Seeks To Enroll Volunteers For Hospitals

A clay frog may be the key to a new life.

That's the opinion of Miss Amelia Peabody, chairman of the Arts and Skills service of the Boston Red Cross who is currently seeking to enroll new volunteers from Arlington for hospital work.

"The patient in a military or veterans hospital who is given a bit of clay and shown how to fashion it into a table decoration such as a frog or to make ash trays or other ceramics, has found a fascinating hobby. Hospitals heads say that this "outside" interest is a definite help in speeding a patient's recovery." Miss Peabody declared.

In addition to ceramics, Arts and Skills instructors are trained by Red Cross to teach the men in hospitals a large variety of crafts. Their popularity with the patients has resulted in a call from hospitals to greatly increase the number of trained instructors.

Six new courses have been set up by Miss Peabody, scheduled to start October 6th and October 14th. The five or six lesson courses in Sundry crafts, weaving, advanced pottery glazing, textile painting, pottery

Mr. Haggerty married Miss Mary A. E. Lovell, in Roslindale on September 27, 1908, the late Rev. John J. Corbett officiating, and have made their home in Woburn, where Mr. Haggerty established the Woburn Daily Times, since 1901.

He has recovered from his operation and daily directs the operations and policies of his publication.

Mrs. Ansell Speaker At Hadassah Meeting

The first meeting of the Arlington Chapter of Hadassah was held recently at the Arlington Academy of Music.

Mrs. Samuel Doctoroff, president, presided and brought greetings to all members, both new and old. She also announced that an emergency women's knitting project for Israel was launched under the supervision of the New England Region of Hadassah, and urged all members who know how to knit gloves, helmets, socks, etc. to get in touch with Mrs. L. Zonis who is in charge of distribution of materials.

A collection to aid the Monica Cotter fund was taken up at the meeting.

Mrs. Myer Berman, donor luncheon chairman for the third consecutive year, reported that the affair would be held on December 8th in the Balinese Room of the Hotel Somerset, and in view of the magnitude of Hadassah's health program in Palestine, urged all to do their utmost to assure the success of the affair.

Mrs. Max Gerber, chairman of Youth Aliyah, appealed to every member to contribute generously toward the care of orphaned children brought into Palestine.

A complete political report on the current situation in Palestine was given by Mrs. Alvin Rose.

Program chairman, Mrs. Mae Ruderman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Julian Ansell, National Board Member and inspirational speaker, who praised the Chapter for their rapid growth and their help in creating the State of Israel. The Jews of Israel have triumphed because spirit and determination were their weapons," said Mrs. Ansell. She appealed to all to work for every project of Hadassah and to bring every Jewish woman into Hadassah membership.

Lawrence E. Corcoran, Edward T. Ryan, and Augustine D. Doyle, were the Arlington delegates who attended the Democratic state convention held at the Hotel Sheraton, Worcester, September 24-25.

The delegates report the convention as the most enthusiastic, united and well attend convention ever held by the party.

Optimism ran high over the prospects of a complete victory for the national and state tickets on November 2nd.

Writer Cites Need Of Veteran Housing

To the Editor of the Press:

Up until two years ago, the veteran of World War II, was the golden-haired boy of America. Why, anything he wanted or needed would be his for the asking (or so it would seem). Wasn't he defending our country courageously against the enemy, getting his head knocked off the ideal of democracy? Nothing was too good for our modern heroes in not so shining steel helmets. That was two years ago! Today, here and now, where are those whose glittering promises painted a glowing future for our returned veterans, some of whom didn't quite make it back in the same condition in which they left.

All we hear now are phrases like, "Oh these G. I.'s think the world owes them a living!"—Or "what do the vets want, blood?" No they neither want what they don't deserve, nor are they seeking blood; they just want a decent break, which most of them aren't getting. Sure they've got the G. I. loan, but they're paying off their outrageous mortgages with sweat and a pound of flesh. The "Shylocks" are too shrewd and too plentiful nowadays, always on the lookout for desperate G. I. Joes. Dramatics? I don't think so. Everyone knows the shameful conditions existing all over the country. Couples with babies living in one room, two and sometimes three or more families all crowded into a flat suitable for merely one family. The morale of the younger generation, the so called backbone of our future America is rapidly becoming nil, and for their relatives who have to share these couples' unhappy plight, the situation is no less deplorable. And in this piecemeal existence there is the dangerous advent of the smaller and smaller families, limited by necessity rather than choice, and this situation certainly bodes no good to the welfare of the United States.

But some people need to be shaken out of their lethargy. I am asking every day by well-meaning persons if I have an apartment yet, and when I reply negatively I am told there are many if I follow ads in the daily papers. The following ad is typical: "Limited number of desirable modern two room unfurnished suites with kitchenette and tile baths—rentals $140 to $175 per month". The need for low-cost housing is eloquently illustrated in the above extract from a Boston newspaper.

There have been rumors around town, nasty rumors to the effect that further work and planning hasn't been accomplished in regard to Veteran's Housing because enough pressure hasn't been brought to bear on the Housing Authority by desperate G. I. signees. Also, it would seem that several selfish people think the town area about the development would take on the aspect of a slum. What do families of G. I.'s have to do to make Arlingtonites leave their pink clouds and come down to earth? If by building these needed projects the LOOKS of the town of Arlington defaced in the minds and hearts of its loyal sons and daughters. And if certain people in authority are in doubt of the very grave necessity for these homes, and wish to be assured more fully, there should at least be someone to make complaints to. A certain vet-

Leave For Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Waugh, of Cambridge (the former Miss May McCrone, of this town) left last week for Miami, Florida, where Mr. Waugh plans to continue his studies at the graduate school of the University of Miami.

eran's wife of my acquaintance recently made a trip to the Robbins House, with the express errand of further pleading her cause, and that of many others, but upon her arrival found there was no one there to receive either herself or her pleas; and this on a day when the Housing Board was supposedly functioning vigorously.

This is just one "voice crying in the wilderness" but I speak for many, and hope our voices will be heard in the very future.

In closing I wish it to be remembered that most "war-heroes" don't expect to sit back and enjoy the so-called fruits of glory—they expect merely the simple requirements for normal, healthy living. And if this country, and little towns like Arlington expect to expand and grow, they must give citizens a chance to breathe and grow too, and out of the chaos of war, carve a newer and more constructive life for themselves and the generations to follow. Give us this chance, won't you?
